Shielded Forensic Pouch

SFP1215W2

On-site mobile device data extraction is now a reality with Select Fabricators' SFP1215W2 Shielded Forensic Pouch.

The SFP1215W2 allows for hands-on manipulation of wireless devices in an RF tight environment making sure internal data is not compromised from moment of capture.

There is no need to take the captured device back to the laboratory to view the internal memory. The see-through soft material window and USB 2.0 connection allows device manipulation in the field.

The USB2.0 Forensic Pouch is manufactured in the USA with SFi's proprietary Silver/Copper/Nickel fabric. This conductive, flexible material is the same fabric used over the past decade to make room sized to table top RF shielded enclosures.

Better than -75 dB, 99.95% RF Isolation from 500MHz to 6.0GHz.

Complete Kit comes with Internal Foam Insert and Carry Bag.

Works with any portable electronic device including smart phones with capacitive sensing touch screens like the iPhone.

More affordable than lab based non-portable metal enclosures.

Connects to any forensic extraction device including HTCI, .XRY and Paraben.

BENEFITS

- USB 2.0 connector provides fast and secure evidence collection.
- Immediate on-site device manipulation and device containment for transportation.
- Works with any portable wireless device including Smart phones, Tablets, and GPS units.
